

Padres Basketball

Cowboys topped; Hawaiian trip ends 2-1

By ED NOBLE

The Carmel High Padres basketball squad did not put on one of their better performances, but played well enough to win last Friday night.

The Padres defeated the Salinas Cowboys 57-48 before a screaming crowd in the packed Salinas high gym nicknamed the "corral."

Carmel, coming off a second place showing in the Hawaiian basketball tournament over the holidays, connected on only 9 of 35 shots from the floor in the first half, while sinking only 9 of 25 free throws for the entire game.

Despite the Padres low shooting percentage, the first three quarters were a see-saw battle. Salinas led at five different times during the first two periods, but Carmel managed a 25-23 halftime edge. The trend continued through the third quarter as Carmel led by a mere four points, 39-35.

Salinas' 6'6" center Ignacio Cabatu brought the Cowboys to within three points at 39-36 with a free throw early in the fourth period. But the Padres began to pull away as Salinas went scoreless for the next three minutes.

Successive baskets by Steve Talley gave Carmel its biggest edge at 43-36 with five minutes remaining in the game. The Padres then played up to their capabilities by displaying their excellent ball handling and waiting for good shots. The Cowboys could not manage to get closer than five points during the rest of the contest.

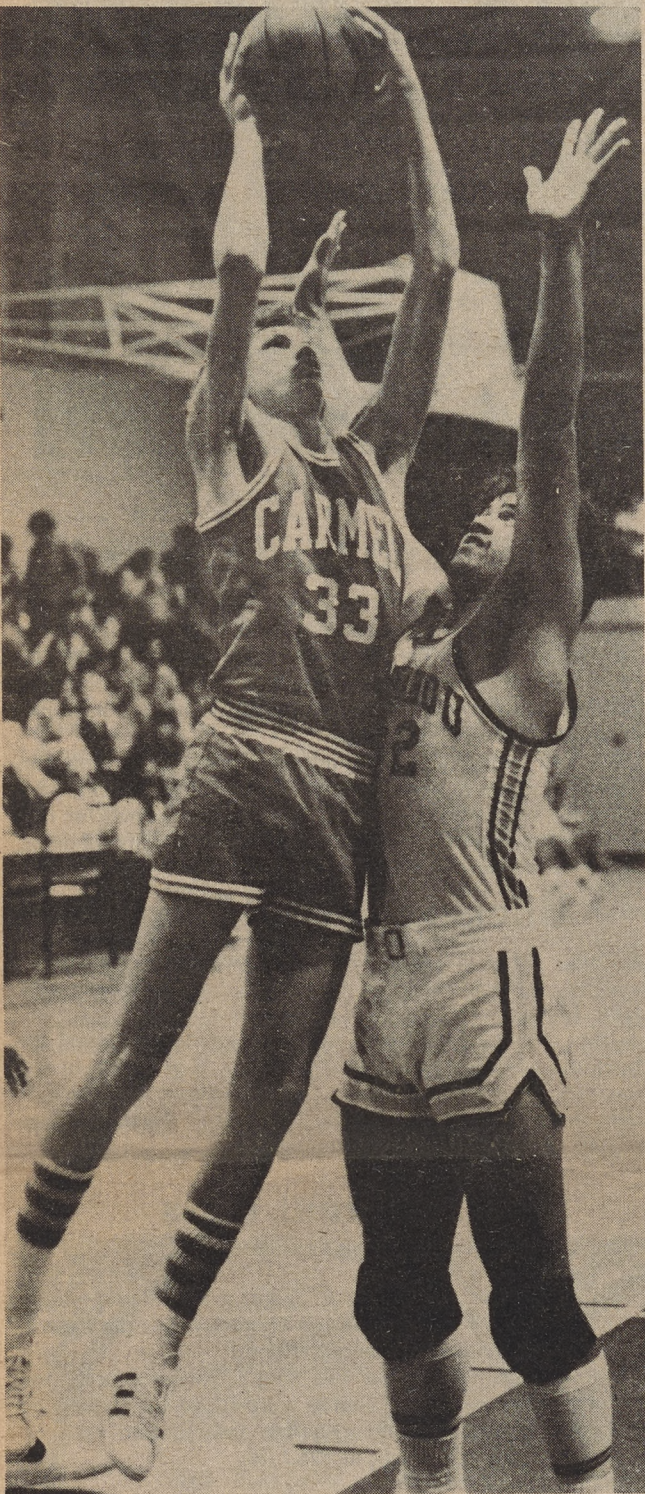

The game marked the return of senior forward Bill Colohan for Carmel, who had been sidelined for three weeks with a fractured left forearm. Colohan played well though he seemed frustrated by his outside and free throw shooting problems.

Carmel coach Joe Feldeisen felt the Salinas gym or "corral" was instrumental in creating problems for the Padres.

"Salinas is a very difficult team to beat in their own small gym. They can run that 1-2-2 zone and get away with it," Feldeisen said. "In a bigger gym, it would leave the middle wide open."

Carmel now boasts a 10-2 record as they begin MTAL action. The Padres open league play on Tuesday as they host the Gonzales Spartans in the Padre gym.

THE CARMEL HIGH PADRES basketball team returned from a holiday trip to Hawaii near victors in the 21st Annual Punahou Invitational Basketball Tournament. The Padres missed being the first mainland team to win the tournament by only four points, losing to host Punahou High 45-41 in the finals. Punahou High has won eight of the 21 tournaments held. The Puns came from behind to win in the final three minutes of play, benefitted by a series of close calls by the officials. Steve Talley, CHS guard, scored 12 points for the Padres. Carmel won the first two games of the tournament by a combined total of eight points, beating Kamehamea High 55-48 and Radford High 44-43. The contest against Radford was down to the final 10 seconds when Dan Sturges hit a free throw to put Carmel ahead 44-41, sealing the victory. Doug Weller led CHS scorers with 12 points and 13 rebounds against Kamehamea High. The tournament was started in 1955 and has always been won by a Hawaiian team. This year's tourney included Carmel and seven Hawaiian schools, including the Padres first victim, Kamehamea High, the defending state champion. The team is shown above in a photograph taken by Nancy Fleming in Honolulu. Friendship Quilt

Favorite Bible verses and designs were worked into each square of the Friendship Quilt presented as a token of affection from the Ladies Fellowship of the Carmel-Carmel Valley First Baptist Church as a farewell gift to Suzanne and Bob Robertson, and daughter, Billie.

The young couple has been associated with the Valley church on Schulte and Carmel Valley Roads and accepted a missionary assignment in Amman, Jordan.

With the exception of three members of the organization, it was the first time any of the ladies had participated in this Early Americana craft with all of the work done by hand. Among those bridging the distance from California to Jordan with stitches were: Leslie Hollaway, Grace Jacobson, Halie Sherman, and Mary Hindricks. Also Mmes. Marge McBeth, Lydia Clausen, Alene Piper, Ellie Mark, Joe Henderson, Helen Russell, Mary Baugh, Shirley Garner, Carol Gates, Ilene Badke, Virginia Holine, Ann Lee, Lee McBride, Katherine McMichael, Ruth Selhin, Jan Stanley, Eloise Sturgill, Madge Williams, Mary Lou Ward, Kathy Leslie, and Kelly Mitchell.

MR. AND MRS. BOB ROBERTSON accept a "Friendship Quilt" from Mrs. Roy McBeth (left) representing the Ladies Fellowship of the Carmel First Baptist Church on West Carmel Valley Road. The ladies hope that each square will recall happy memories of Carmel Valley as the Robertsons preach the Christian ministry in Amman, Jordan.

Panetta benefit

"The Friends of Leon and Sylvia Panetta" will sponsor an evening of celebration on Saturday, Jan. 15 at the Del Monte Hyatt House in Monterey.

The pre-inaugural spectacular will feature dinner, dancing and prizes and will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a no-host cocktail party, followed by a steak dinner at 7:30 p.m. and dancing to the music of the Mel Hawkins combo beginning at 9:30 p.m.

Reservations at $35 per person may be made by phoning chairman of the event, Mrs. Dale Buche, 659-4183.

Get well messages

Get well messages for former Valleyite, Mrs. Guy Kell, will now reach her at the Salinas Driftwood Convalescent Hospital where she has transferred from Salinas Memorial. Mr. and Mrs. Kell have many local friends made during the years that they made their home at "The Cactus Ranch" on West Carmel Valley Road.

Messages of cheer would also be appreciated by Valleyites who are patients at Community Hospital; Elbert Wade who suffered a heart attack on Christmas Eve; Emil Hansen who underwent surgery on Wednesday; and Mrs. Mabel Love who was admitted for treatment this week.

Birthday surprise

Friends were putting the finishing touches on a surprise birthday party at the home of the hostess, Lorraine Tarrantino, while she entertained Larry Gourley with dinner at Rocky Point Restaurant. The couple arrived at the Mid-Valley home to find 75 friends waiting to celebrate Larry's 30th birthday with refreshments, music and dancing.

Special guests were the celebrant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gourley of Salinas. Assisting with arrangements were his son and daughter, Aaron and Kim Gourley and friends Mary Anzini, Fern Baudour, Jim Blevins, and Scott Mitchell.

A former assistant manager of Mid-Valley Safeway and Carmel Center Safeway, Larry has recently been named to the assistant manager's post at Marina Safeway.

Save rummage for CHS

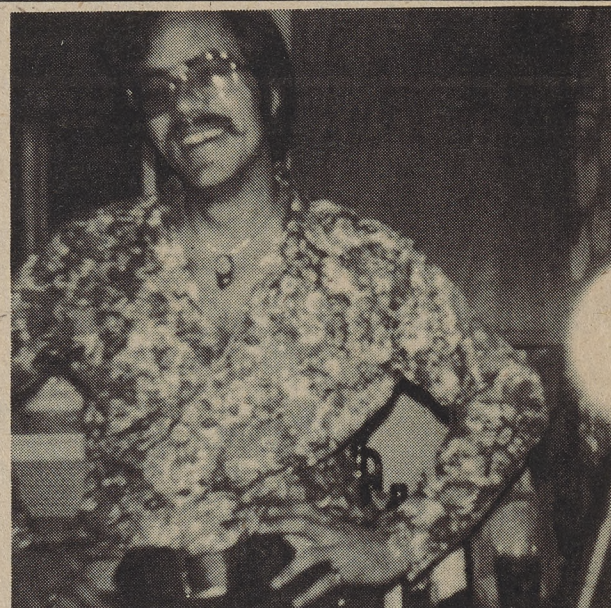

Remember when you are weeding out those items replaced by shiny new Christmas gifts that the annual Carmel High School Bargain Fair — with proceeds used for Scholarship Funds — is just around the corner.

Storage has been obtained for items for the March 26 and 27 event so you are now invited to call any of the following numbers to arrange for pick-up: 659-4160; 659-2468; 659-2077 or 659-4183.

Valleyite to Europe

Family and friends had but a brief glimpse of Berwick Drive resident, Jeff Ryan who was home from Stanford for the holidays before leaving for Vienna where he will study during the winter term in the Stanford Overseas Program.

Enrolled in the Liberal Arts, Jeff will transfer in the spring to Germany — a continuation of the Stanford program — in Berlin.

LARRY GOURLEY was guest of honor at a recent surprise birthday party honoring his 30th birthday.

CHS band fund raisers

Program chairmen will be happy to know that musical groups are available through the Carmel High School Band to help with entertainment for their organizations during the new year. Groups range from flute duets to a stage band. For more information you are invited to call Henry Avila, Music director at Carmel High School.

Also with spring housecleaning and spring gardening just around the corner, keep in mind the "Dial-a-Job service" performed by the Carmel Padre Band group. Crews for this and assistance with other jobs are available by phoning project co-ordinator, Mrs. Betty Williams 659-4351.

Buckeye 4-H officers

Buckeye 4-H Club members have elected new officers: president, Ashley Swanson, secretary, Laura Wilson, and scribe, Liz Weiss.

Ashley is getting the new year off to an exciting start by scheduling a Square Dance Party on Jan. 22 at 8 p.m. in the Tularcitos Multipurpose Room for all Salinas and Carmel Valley 4-H-ers and their guests. "Vaquero" Bernard Jones will call the "tips" for the evening.

Single parent class

Instructor Linda Nations will begin a course for single parents on Jan. 13 to continue each Thursday evening from 7-9 p.m. in the Tularcitos Faculty Room.

Combining assistance for the Single Parent's problems with personal growth, the course is designed for those who are raising a family alone. Further information may be obtained by phoning Linda at 624-1546.

from our readers' point of view

Dear Editor:

After looking over the proposed interim zoning ordinance that is being pushed by just a few of the Committee revising our beloved Master Plan, I am reminded of a problem my nephew had who lives in a similarly zoned area.

He had a six-inch tree in his yard that was diseased and needed to be removed. After much paperwork, hearings, devastating treatment by local government, he had to pay $25 for somebody in the environmental department to come out and look at the tree to see if he could cut it down.

We need to keep our trees and natural vegetation, but there are better ways to control irresponsible cutting than is stated in this ordinance.

When we look at the provisions set forth, it is clear that the writers want power to control everything and everybody (even the poor farmers) in Carmel Valley. This is unnatural and unfair.

Who is going to protect us little guys against this Committee?

CV master plan committee discusses interim ordinance

The Carmel Valley Master Plan Study Committee found it had its job cut out for it at its first meeting of the new year. Brought to the committee for consideration were an interim ordinance for new construction and a proposed map of the study area. Both matters appeared destined for long debate.

The interim ordinance, which would require a special use permit and public meeting for any new construction (including individual residences), was drawn up by the county planning staff to give the committee some basis for discussion. The proposed study area was also drawn up by the staff and both matters will be brought up before the Jan. 20 meeting of the committee, to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the crafts room of Carmel Manor.

County planning commissioner Bill Peters was quick to point out that the proposed "emergency" interim ordinance is definitely not a moratorium. Peters stressed that the ordinance, modeled after the one instituted for Big Sur, does not suspend development, but merely slows it.

The ordinance, Peters explained, if passed would provide a screening process. It would not affect zoning, he said, except to add some more restrictions.

The ordinance could be passed for a period of four months, be renewed after a public meeting for an additional eight months, and be renewed again for a period of one year. Total time under this interim ordinance can not exceed two years.

Also to be discussed at the Jan. 20 meeting will be the extent of the study area involved in the master plan. A map presented by the planning department sets the north boundary at the head of the watershed at the top of Los Laureles Grade, the east boundary at Los Laureles at the Western edge of the Cachagua study area, the western boundary approximately at High 1, and the south boundary at Snively's Ridge (the same as the old master plan).

Also on the agenda will be the matter of what permit guidelines should be established if an interim ordinance is passed.

The proposed interim ordinance, in a document from the planning department, is explained like this: INTERIM DEVELOPMENT CRITERIA

1. AGRICULTURAL LANDS — Class I and II agricultural land now fallow or in production may not be converted to higher intensity uses and may not be subdivided. Lands now being grazed will be encouraged to remain in such use.

2. FLOOD PLAINS — Lands within a 100 year flood plain will not be considered as suitable for development.

3. FIRE HAZARD — Because of the high to extreme fire hazard in grasslands and chaparral and wooded areas, maximum effort shall be made to assure that development creates minimal additional risk of fire. Where fire hazard may be significant, all permit application shall be reviewed, prior to submission to Monterey County, by the State Division of Forestry or the local fire agency and certification shall be provided that the proposed project meets or exceeds fire safety standards.

4. LIQUID WASTE DISPOSAL — It is expected that most developments will dispose of liquid waste through conventional septic tanks. However, this means of disposal is considered as temporary and connection to a public sewage disposal system should be made as soon as possible. Applications for Special Permits must be accompanied by appropriate certification from the Monterey County Department of Environmental Health that the proposed system is suitable on the site. Projects within the boundaries of the Carmel Sanitary District must make immediate connection to that disposal system and submit evidence that such connection will be accomplished. Applications within and to the west of Mid-Valley Shopping Center must be accompanied by evidence of the landowner's intent to annex and connect to the District at the earliest possible time. Such evidence shall be in the form of a copy of a letter or application to the District.

5. WATER SUPPLY — No subdivisions of land or applications for development will be considered unless it is demonstrated by the applicant that there will be a satisfactory domestic water source and that water will be available on each parcel. This must be in the form of a certification by a registered geologist or civil engineer. Certification must further find that proposed water withdrawals will not adversely affect the natural supply necessary to maintain the environment, or the supply normally available to existing users during the driest year. The development of water supplies through the use of individual wells in groundwater storage of water supplies through the use of individuals wells in groundwater storage areas is discouraged. All subdivisions are required to connect to the California-American Water Company system if possible under the regulations of the California Public Utilities Commission. If this is not permitted, mutual water systems will be approved until such time as connection to the Cal-Am system is possible.

6. UTILITIES — Permit applications must be accompanied by a description of utilities that will be required, location of existing service lines and poles, and proposed method of bringing utilities to the site. Comments or recommendations of utility companies must be included. Utilities will be required to be placed underground unless this is demonstrated to be unfeasible or undesirable because of topographic conditions. Additional conditions may be applied depending on the characteristic of individual sites.

7. ROAD TREATMENT — in order to protect visual beauty; avoid erosion, geologic or other environmental problems; and minimize the creation of additional access points to public roads, thorough review of all proposed roads will be made. The construction of new roads will be discouraged unless evidence is provided to show that no feasible alternative exists. Where possible, every effort should be made to secure access easement agreements for mutual use of existing for mutual use of existing roads. In cases where new roads must be constructed, they should avoid highly visible ridges or cutting across vegetated hillsides and be landscaped to minimize visual impact and control erosion. Development along Carmel Valley and Laureles Grade roads will be reviewed in terms of scenic highway corridor considerations. Consideration should be given to requiring a "road connection fee" as a condition of approval for all land divisions.

8. GRADING REVIEW — All grading, whether part of a larger project or not, is to be reviewed with the intent of minimizing destruction of the existing vegetative cover, visible scarring of the hillsides and the increased potential for erosion and siltation. Plans to be submitted must conform to this intent.

9. VIEWSHED PROTECTION — Recognizing the considerable public and private interest in protecting the scenic beauty of the Carmel Valley area, it will be each applicant's responsibility to demonstrate that the proposed development does not unduly intrude upon critical features of the landscape and will not degrade visual enjoyment from public roadways or public recreation areas. Such features include, in part, ridge crests, prominent knolls, scenic highways, Carmel River, and other scenic areas.

10. SITE AND DESIGN REVIEW — The siting and design of all structures, fences, signs, lighting and other improvements are required to be in sympathy with the character of the Carmel Valley area and with the considerations included in these criteria. Detailed site, design, color, landscaping, lighting, drainage and erosion control information must accompany all applications.

11. LANDSCAPING — Removal of native trees, particularly oaks, and other major vegetation will not be permitted, unless specifically approved. Any trees removed shall be replaced with the same species and in locations where the replacements will be successful. Replanting shall be more extensive than the original vegetation. A tree removal and replacement plan including specific justification for any proposed removals shall

NPS hosts Shapinsky

The Naval Postgraduate School Music Society will host two concerts by pianist Ian Shapinsky on Jan. 29 and 30 in the school's Ingersoll Hall.

An all-Chopin concert on Saturday, Jan. 29 at 8 p.m. will feature Ballade No. 3 in A Flat Major, Barcolle, Polonaise in A Flat Major, and Sonata No. 3 in B Minor, Opus 58.

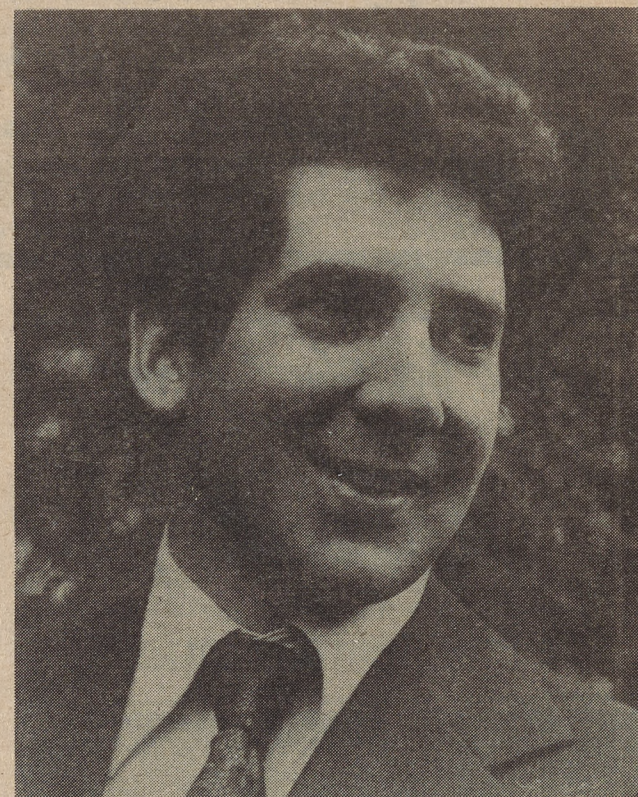

The second program, Sunday, January 30 at 3 p.m., will feature works of Mozart, Schubert, Ravel, Brahms and Prokofiev.

Ian Shapinsky, the son of noted cellist Aaron Shapinsky, is a graduate of Juilliard School of Music, and has performed as a soloist at Tully Hall in Lincoln Center and at Carnegie Hall. For the past four years, he has studied with noted pianist Jascha Zayde.

This young pianist performed the Walter Jennings Memorial Concert last year at the Naval Postgraduate School, playing for an enthusiastic sold-out house.

Tickets for both concerts will be available beginning Jan. 17 from Record Cove in Monterey, Lily Walker's in Pacific Grove, and Carmel Music, as well as at the NPS Student Mail Center, Herrmann Hall basement, weekdays between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

IAN SHAPINSKY will perform at the Naval Postgraduate School Jan. 29 and 30.

Silver Streak

Amusing, shocking movie

by Julia Montague

The public has been bombarded of late with "fatality" movies such as Inferno, Earthquake and so on, so it is a change to see a disaster film in which about the only people to get hurt are the bad guys.

Silver Streak is a weird movie, amusing and at the same time shocking. The story line is almost insignificant, evolving around the fact that bad guy Patrick McGooohan is bumping people off to keep them from revealing that he is one of the ever-growing number of "Art Crooks".

Gene Wilder bumbles into this hornets nest by way of Jill Clayburgh's bedroom compartment on the elegant Silver Streak. Miss Clayburgh is a lovely (but not too convincing) loose lady, bored with her secretarial work for a Professor of Fine Arts. The prof is in possession of letters debunking recent Rembrandt acquisitions of a museum. These painting had been certified by McGooohan as the real thing, so he (of course) murders the professor before the truth can be revealed.

Wilder sees the professor's body falling off the train, and Wilder is, in turn, bounced off the train a few times himself. His adventures while trying to reboard the non stop train at various intervals on the cross country trip are very funny.

The first time he meets a tough old broad who flies him to Albuquerque in an open cockpit two seater, buzzing sheep along the way. The next time he meets Richard Pryor, hilarious as a thief turned help-mate. I don't think Ray Walston was an effectual bad guy. I kept waiting for him to take off his shirt and undulate his tummy, ala "Luther Billis". Bad guy McGooohan's accent is incredible, but he is cool and deadly. Scatman Crothers also gives us a good performance.

The star of the show, however, is the run-away Silver Streak and the most applause should go to Fred Kramer and his special effects. The demis of this huge train is chilling, although I found it a bit hard to swallow.

Silver Streak is an entertaining film, has really no social value to speak of, but Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor keep the pace going with very amusing dialogue. Grisly come-uppances are not by bag, but the reaction LOTTE GOSLAR'S Pantomime Circus will be presented as part of Carmel's Festival of Dance, Feb. 15 at 8:15 p.m. in Sunset Center.

Children's festival ends Sunday

The Hartnell College Children's Theatre Festival will end this weekend with two final performances of the student production of "Alice in Wonderland," and a performance of the Magic Carpet Theater Group of San Francisco.

"Alice in Wonderland" will be presented Jan. 15 at 8 p.m. and Jan. 16 at 2 p.m. in the college's Performing Arts Center. The Magic Carpet group will perform Jan. 15 at 2 p.m.

Members of the cast are as follows: Alice, Heather Blades; White Rabbit, Michael Huber; Caterpillar, Josefina Fabros; Duchess, Linda Hancock; Cook, Kris Stevens; Mad Hatter, Hector Hernandez; Mock Turtle, Paul Locke; Gryphon, Dan Blevins; King, Michael Kubik; Queen, David Obele; Red Queen, Barbara Metz; White Queen, Mary Ann Peppin; Tweedledum, Chris Heidel; Tweedledee, Lorraine Pedrazzoli; White Knight, Chris Wood; Two Spades, Barbara Metz; Seven Spades, Kris Stevens; Humpty Dumpty, Randolph Baker; Cheshire Cat, Bess Greenley; March Hare, Robert Eddington; Dormouse, Penny Nichols; Knave of Hearts, Tim Hull; Guard, Chris Wood.

Brought back this year by popular demand, the Magic Carpet Theater Group will again bring to children and adults their unique representations of the whims and fantasies — and sometimes wisdom — of childhood.

The group of young performers received the 1976 Zeta Phi Eta Winifred Ward Prize in recognition of their outstanding work in children's theatre. Zeta Phi Eta is the National Professional Fraternity in Communication Arts and Sciences. The company has also been approved by the International Association of Theatre for Children and Young People for inclusion in the next international festival which will be held in Madrid, Spain, in June, 1978.

MIXING IT UP (l. to r.) The March Hare (Robert Eddington), the Mad Hatter (Hector Hernandez), and the White Rabbit (Michael Huber), all of Salinas, share the comedy in the Hartnell College student production of "Alice in Wonderland." Directed by Ron Danko, with original music by Stephen Tosh, the play closes Hartnell's 2nd annual Children's Theatre Festival with performances Saturday Jan. 15, 8 p.m. and Sunday, Jan. 16, 2 p.m. in the college Performing Arts Center. For tickets and reservations contact the college Community Services Box Office, 758-9191.

Roping show set Sunday

The Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club will hold their first Roping Show of the year on the club's grounds, on Garzas Road in Carmel Valley Sunday Jan. 16.

In the morning two events will be held, the first one, team mule roping to begin at 9 a.m. The second event will have men and women ropers competing against each other, each roper being allowed to rope two cows (women will be allowed three cows), with the roper having the lowest average time being counted as the winner.

Following the mornings events, a barbecue luncheon will be served, and the snack and beverage bars will be open during the course of the day.

The last event of the day will be a simulated Timed Calf Branding, also a team event. Each team will be allowed two tries, one on horseback, and the other on foot. The team with the lowest average time will be declared the winner.

Questions, questions, we get questions. This week we're going to put a few of them in print and see if you agree with the answers given by the Dear Abby of the barnyard.

Question: I'm trying to teach my two-year-old colt to longe. Sometimes he rears right up and walks toward me on his hind legs.

Answer: It's high time that young horse was gelded.

Question: Where can I get a pony cart?

Answer: You can ask Farm Center to show you their catalogs or you can go to your local welder who might make you one cheaper than you could order it. Especially if you have a few old bicycles, etc. for raw materials.

Question: My horse has a funny way of holding his head slightly on one side. Also there is an inch long thin scar on that side of his face between his eye and ear. Do you think he's been injured in some way that causes him to carry his head funny?

Answer: Yes. Both the scar and the funny head carriage are likely to have been caused by the same thing: a nerve bruise, also called a war bruise or a come-along. Your Sunday cowboy runs a fine cable or wire around back of the horse's ears where the spinal cord is not protected by the bony vertebrae. There's a little gap just there that lets direct pressure be exerted right on the spinal nerve. It's somewhat dangerous to play around with- if the horse boogers, he's apt to sustain permanent injury.

Question: What causes this funny bulge high up on the side of my horse's neck? The muscle there is much bigger than it is on the other side.

Answer: Aw, heck, it's another horse mucked over by a Sunday cowboy. He tried to break a halter puller by tying it hard and fast and LOW. To make sure the horse learned he probably spooked it into laying back. The jerk on the horse's neck gave it a permanent strain. Goes to show you why experienced horse trainers tie their horses high.

Question: My horse speeds up when we approach the barn. She dances and skitters and rather scares me- I'm afraid she'll run away. In fact she doesn't much like leaving the barn in the first place.

Answer: You are not getting far enough away from the barn often enough. Join Equestrian Trails or N.A.T.R.C. or some other right thinking group and put the old miles on that horse. It's downright amazing how twenty-mile rides improve a barn sour horse.

Question: My horse shies not only at scary things that I can prepare him for but at rocks and bushes and everyday stuff.

Answer: First have the vet check his eyesight. Then see the answer above. It's downright amazing how twenty-mile rides improve a shying horse.

Question: (Asked by a rider on Carmel Valley Road) Do you think my horse looks skinny.

Answer: Yes, anytime the backbone sticks up two inches above the meat I'd say the horse looks skinny.

Question: (same rider) But I just had her wormed and her teeth don't need floating and I feed her lots and lots.

Answer: Lots, shmots! Keep her feed box full of hay day and night. Keep a tub of alfalfa molasses meal in front of her. Throw her a scoop full of Omolene four times a day. See if that backbone doesn't disappear!

Question: Whenever I try to brush my pony he swings his tail and acts like he wants to kick me.

Answer: Beat on him when he does it.

Question: (same person) Also when I go in the corral he runs at me and chases me out.

Answer: Beat on him when he does it.

Question: (same person) Also he kicks my other horses- lamed my favorite mare by kicking her in the knee. He can't be ridden with other horses and he won't go out alone.

Answer: Dogfood the little son of a stallion.

Question: We are thinking about getting our six-year-old daughter a Shetland Pony. Would that be a good gift?

Answer: That would be an excellent gift for a mommy or daddy but not for the little girl. Parents can use the pony for dragging up firewood, for fertilizing and plowing the garden, for packing into the wilderness. They can even put their six-year-old daughter on and lead her about and that will be fun for everyone.
